Lawyers in Classrooms Program Disclaimer

The ISBA's "Lawyers in Classrooms Program" is designed as a potential resource for primary and secondary school teachers with an interest in having Illinois licensed lawyers present legal-related topics to students in their classrooms. Participation in this program is open to all ISBA members and is entirely voluntary. The ISBA makes no representation as to the suitability of any ISBA Member volunteer in any respect to meet the specific qualifications, expectations or needs of the teacher. The ISBA encourages interested teachers to communicate directly with the particular ISBA Member volunteer to determine that lawyer's interest and suitability for the particular classroom visit.

The ISBA assumes no responsibility or liability arising out of, or resulting from: (1) the use of this website or any Lawyers in Classrooms Program resource; or (2) any school visit or classroom presentation by an ISBA Member volunteer. Under no circumstances shall the ISBA be liable for any damages, losses and expenses, including attorneys' fees, arising out of, or resulting from: (1) the use of this website; (2) any transaction or communication between a user of this website and any person, staff, volunteer or organization listed in the online volunteer directory; or (3) any school or classroom visit performed as a result of the use of this website or program.

Statements and expressions of the ISBA Member volunteers who participate in this Program do not necessarily reflect the official positions of the ISBA.

If you wish to check on the contact information for the lawyer you wish to invite, you may visit the Illinois Supreme Court's Attorney Registration & Disciplinary Commission at www.iardc.org
